

About FH Münster University of Applied Sciences

FH Münster University of Applied Sciences, founded in 1971 from a merger of various engineering and vocational schools, stands as one of Germany's largest and most successful applied sciences institutions. Located at multiple sites across the Münsterland region (see the map below), and its main campuses in the cities of Münster and Steinfurt (about 35km North-West of Münster), the university serves around 14.500 students across 14 faculties and several research institutions. It has established a strong reputation for quality in education and research, supported by highest rates of third-party funding among German universities of applied sciences. This commitment to quality inspires strategic alliances with industry partners. The university offers a broad spectrum of programs, including innovative offerings like dual-study options and international programs, with a significant number of courses and activities designed to enhance global competencies.

How to visit by plane?

Direct flights are available from Berlin, Dresden, Eindhoven, Frankfurt, Geneva, Leipzig/Halle, London, Munich, Nice, Paris, Stuttgart, Venice, and Zurich.

Continue by shuttle bus to Münster Central Station (Hauptbahnhof, Hbf). From there, take the regional train towards Gronau to Steinfurt-Burgsteinfurt station. Trains depart 9 minutes past every full hour. Then take a taxi to Stegerwaldstraße 39.

Alternatively, with a rental car: Take the A1 towards Münster. Exit at Münster-Nord (No. 77) and follow the B 54 towards Steinfurt until the Steinfurt-Burgsteinfurt exit. Continue on the L 510 towards Burgsteinfurt. In Burgsteinfurt, follow the L 510 towards Leer/Schöppingen. From here, the route to the university is well signposted. At the 5th traffic light, turn right onto Leerer Straße (K 76). After approximately 1 kilometer, turn right onto Stegerwaldstraße. The university center is about 300 meters ahead on the left side.
